Dear Valued Customer:

Thank you for your inquiry relative to the REACH status of our kaolin products. Our kaolin products are produced from a naturally occurring mineral and accordingly both KaMin's and Cadam's hydrous kaolins and calcined clays are exempt from REACH registration requirements. Our treated products are also exempt except for our Lithospense® ink clays. The additive used in our Lithospense products does require registration and we are using an Only Representative to track all of our direct exports to Europe and as such are compliant with the REACH obligations.

Please note as well that our products do not contain Substances of Very High Concern above threshold limits outlined by REACH regulations and most recently updated on 15 January 2019. These substances are not added to our product and our products would not contain these substances at levels above proposed threshold levels. Accordingly these products are also exempt from any CLP notification requirements.

Thank you for your continued business. Please let us know if you have any other questions.

With Best Regards,
